JOHNSON NAMES THREE MEN

He Declares Objected to His Religion.

Two Judges of Appellate Court and Louisville Man Named— Denial by the Judges.

The Louisville Herald has the following concerning Ben Johnson, and those he charged with saying they would not vote for a Catholic for Governor.

Judge T. J. Nunn and Judge John M. Lassing were two of the three Judges of the Court of Appeals Ben Johnson had in mind when he charged that "three members of the highest court in Kentucky had said that they would not vote for a Catholic for Governor." Dr. A. B. Weaver is the member of the Louisville Board of Education to whom Mr. Johnson referred.

The names of the three were made public by Mr. Johnson at the Old Inn last night, while discussing his letter of withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Mr. Johnson was asked the pointed question by a reporter for The Herald.

"Who are the men to whom you referred in your statement?"

"It was Dr. A. B. Weaver, of the School Board, who made the assertion to Mr. George Landrum, of the Smithland Banner, who came to me while Mr. Landrum was telling of the matter, Ollie James, Congressman from the First district passed through the lobby of The Seelbach and was called by Mr. Landrum, who asked if he heard Dr. Weaver's declaration, which he (Mr. James) said he did."

Judge T. J. Nunn of the Kentucky Court of Appeals said in the office of Judge James, at Marion that he would not support a Catholic for Governor and again repeated his assertion at Frankfort.

"Again while returning from a Western trip to his home in this State Judge Nunn while seated in the dining room of the Old Inn at the second table on the right-hand aisle as you enter from the clerk's desk said to Rogers Gore, a member of the Christian church, that a Catholic couldn't be elected, and a little later Judge Nunn told Mr. Gore in the lobby of the Old Inn that if I persisted in making the race for Governor the streets of Louisville would flow with blood thicker than it was on 'Bloody Monday,' years ago."

"This Rogers Gore a reputable gentleman, stands ready to make affidavit to."

The Fourth district Congressman continued by saying: I have it from reliable parties that Judge Lassing was another Judge of the Appellate Court who made the assertion, that a Catholic couldn't be elected Governor of the State and that he made this assertion several times.

Mr. Johnson said in touching on the statement of Dr. Weaver:

"Here is my point regarding the statement of Dr. Weaver—that it seems very unfair that a man who is occupying a prominent position in the educational affairs of a city the size of Louisville should say or do anything that would prejudice the public against children who are affiliated with the Catholic religion."

History, records the fact that the members of the Catholic church have been ever loyal to this Government and patriotic in thought and deed. Therefore it is unjust for a man filling a position that has to do with training the childish mind to give vent to such expression as the one he made in the presence of Ollie James and Mr. Landrum."

Mr. Johnson said he was not at liberty to divulge the name of the other Judge of the Court of Appeals who had declared his opposition to him because of his religion as it was told to him in a confidential letter.

Mr. Johnson's statement was read to Judge Nunn at Frankfort over the telephone. He said he would reply to it in a formal statement.

JUDGES DISCLAIM THE STORY.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 6.—In unmistakable terms the Democratic members of the Court of Appeals stated tonight that Congressman Ben Johnson had been misinformed as to their attitude to him in the Governor's race. They gave out a statement tonight that follows:

The Hon. Ben Johnson, in his published card withdrawing from the race for Governor, states that three judges upon the bench of one of the highest courts of the state have been heard to say that they would not vote for a Catholic for Governor.

"As those words, taken in connection with what follows, must refer to three of us we Judges of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, feel it incumbent upon us to reply to that much of Mr. Johnson's card, and each of us states that he has never approved, entertained or expressed any such sentiment or has been heard to say any such thing and that Mr. Johnson has been misinformed."

J. P. HOBSON.
W. E. SETTLE.
J. M. LASSING.
JOHN D. CARROLL.
SHACKELFORD MILLER.
T. J. NUNN.

While Shelton M. Saufley, editor of The Interior Journal at Stanford, is the young man referred to by Mr. Johnson in his card as having been sent into the Eighth Congressional district to buy a paper to fight him his friends and former newspaper associates here know this information given Mr. Johnson is absurd.

Editor Saufley has been planning to months to purchase a paper and when he purchased The Interior Journal at was and had been employed by the supporters of Mr. Johnson in this city, all of whom are Protestants. Editor Saufley will have his card out tomorrow.

FARMERS TO MEET SOON AT MT. STERLING

Excellent Program Arranged for the Edification of the Soil Tillers.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Feb. 7.—On February 23, 24 and 25, the State Farmers Institute will convene in this city and this bids fair to be an occasion of great interest and much benefit to the farmers of this country, as well as local people.

President T. J. Bigstaff, of this city met with the executive board in Lexington this week, and arranged the program and other things. A partial list of the speakers and their subjects has been given out as follows: President Bigstaff will deliver the opening address followed by an address by Commissioner of Agriculture, M. C. Rankin, Prof. J. W. Spillman, of United States department of Agriculture on "Farm Management"; "Feeding Farm Animals" will be handled by a member of the experiment station staff; Prof. J. J. Hooper on the "Farm Horse"; President Henry S. Barker, of State University, on "Hog Cholera Serum"; Mrs. Eliza Martin, head of the domestic science work of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, of Louisville, "The Usefulness of Domestic Science"; Dr. M. A. Scovell, director of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, "What the State Fair does for the Farmer"; Miss Aubyn Chinn, director of the department of domestic science at the State University, on some important feature of domestic science.

Prof. C. W. Coffey, of the University of Illinois, has been invited to lecture on "Sheep Breeding" while an expert fruit raiser from the Virginia mountains will tell Kentucky farmers how fruit can be successfully raised in the mountains of Kentucky. This meeting will bring 150 visitors to our city and an interesting time is anticipated.

Rockport Bank in Good Condition.

To the Directors of the Rockport Deposit Bank:

This is to certify I have made a careful examination of your bank and find it in a most excellent condition.

The books and accounts are nicely kept, and having gone over the notes and bills of the bank, with a committee of the Directors, and being assured that they are all good, I feel that you are to be congratulated on the healthy condition of your institution.

J. A. FRAYSER,
State Bank Examiner.

Siam's New King Will Establish Schools Like Those In America

King Chulalongkorn of Siam, who has been on the throne only a few weeks, is reported to have taken steps to establish schools in his country that will offer to all his young subjects a chance to get an education. He intends to develop a system of schools modeled on that of the United States, which he studied closely when he visited this country a few years ago, when he was the crown prince. The king himself is a graduate of England's famous Oxford university. He speaks several languages fluently, has written books and plays and is altogether progressive. When he was but a boy he saw a typewriter for the first time, and he immediately ordered one. He became an expert operator and, if necessary, could earn his living running the machine. At his suggestion the manufacturers made typewriters with Siamese characters, and they were soon in general use in Bangkok and other Siamese cities. King Chulalongkorn is twenty-nine years old. He is a close student of military affairs and is familiar with the tactics and systems in vogue in England and Germany. His father, the late King Chulalongkorn, was more progressive than his predecessors and paved the way for the reforms that his son is expected to introduce.

DEATHS CAUSED BY RAILROADS LAST YEAR

Nearly 3,000 Victims Taken off by Following Hazardous Business.

Washington, Feb. 8.—During the months of July, August and September last the number of persons killed in train accidents was 321, while 3,892 were injured. These facts are disclosed in a bulletin issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the first bulletin issued under the revised accident law. It includes many accidents not heretofore included in accident bulletins.

The total number of casualties of all kinds for the quarter was 22,329—2,949 killed and 19,380 injured—on steam operated railways. The totals are largely increased over the corresponding periods because of the inclusion of highway crossing accidents and those of trespassers on the tracks, etc. At the same time the total of certain classes of accidents to employees are diminished by the exclusion of accidents (formerly included) which are not peculiar to railway operation. For the quarter in question, this total is 21,134—132 killed and 21,002 injured.

The accident statistics of those electric lines on which interstate traffic is carried show 146 persons killed and 1,070 injured.

AT SCHOOL WITH CONGRESSMAN-ELECT

McDowell A. Fogle Attending Law School With Hon. W. J. Fields.

Hon. W. J. Fields, Congressman elect of the Ninth District, has matriculated in the law department of Kentucky State University, at Lexington, this being the same work which Mr. McDowell A. Fogle, of this city, is taking. The idea of a Congressman being "one of the boys at college" has caused much comment among the law students.

The following is a clipping from the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Representative-elect William J. Fields, of Carter county, who will succeed J. B. Bennett as Congressman from the Ninth Congressional District, is a self-made man. For a number of years, Mr. Fields was a commercial traveler. His territory was Eastern Kentucky and it is said that when he became a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress he knew every bypath in every county in that congressional district.

When the delegates of the congressional convention met they were all friends of Fields and he was nominated without difficulty. In the campaign his old friends to whom he had been selling goods rallied to his support, and he was elected as a Democrat in a district that has been going Republican for a number of years.

Now that Mr. Fields is in Congress he has determined to make a real law maker out of himself. He has just matriculated as a regular student in the Law Department of the Kentucky State University. Several years ago he undertook to study law, but did not continue. He wants to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the law now and he is going to school with his law books under his arm.

There may be a great deal about law that the new Congressman does not know, but his friends say that if he masters his subject as quickly and as thoroughly as he did politics, he will have no trouble in graduating with first honors.

Government Quits Printing Business.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has announced that after next January the government will discontinue the printing of stamped envelopes and recommends that the same be done by the local newspapers in every town where there is a newspaper and by special permit for the towns nearest the newspaper where a town has no paper of its own. No larger town will be allowed to have a monopoly on the printing of the envelopes to the detriment of the smaller newspapers.

A uniform scale of printing will be prepared by the post office department and insisted upon, or the newspaper will not be sold stamped envelopes for printing. The scale of printing will be such that a reasonable profit can be made by the office printing them. The department will also soon make a ruling that no first class mail will be allowed transmission through the mails until it has a return card written or printed thereon.

No Saloons at Eddyville.

Princeton, Ky., Feb. 6.—Last week several quondam saloon-keepers, together with a few comrades and pals made a final death-struggle in effort to revive the "good old days of red eye," in Eddyville. Last Thursday's issue of the Lyon County Herald devoted a great deal of display to rejoicing over the complete triumph of the anti-saloon element of Eddyville accomplished. The saloon men presented a petition drawn up and supposed to be signed by many citizens calling for another vote on local option. EX-Senator Utley, representing the prohibition forces soon observed that many names on the petition were pasted there, having been cut out from other petitions and documents. The petition was therefore void and illegal and enough bona fide names could not be secured to call for a ballot. The situation is rather distasteful to the few confirmed saloon sympathizers who have been waiting for this glorious day of re-voting.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION

This Week for Three Week's Duration.

Grand Jury Gets to Work and Petit Jury Bears Away Trials.

The Ohio Circuit Court convened in court hall in Hartford last Monday morning with Judge T. F. Birkhead presiding, and Commonwealth's Attorney Ben D. Ringo and County Attorney C. E. Smith present to look after the evil doers. Official stenographer Marvin Miller was also present to report such cases as deemed of sufficient importance.

The following named gentlemen were empanelled as grand jurors viz:

W. E. Johnson, M. D. Ashby, P. S. Coleman, W. B. Taylor, D. L. Maddox, A. Ross, W. V. Renfrow, R. N. Pate, W. F. Stevens, James P. Bennett, J. A. Westfield and Peter Shown. W. E. Johnson was selected as foreman, W. B. Taylor, clerk, and P. S. Coleman, sheriff. After being instructed by the Commonwealth's Attorney, Mr. Ringo, supplemented by some pointed suggestions upon the part of the Court, Judge Birkhead, and hearing the report of the officers, the grand jury repaired to its room for consideration of their routine business.

Those empanelled as petit jurors for the present term, follow:

E. E. Rhoads, Joe F. Hill, J. P. Shrum, F. M. Reynolds, J. Y. Hagerman, H. T. Porter, Harrison Austin, J. L. Mason, J. M. Smiley, Jno. B. Bruner, J. W. Coppage, E. T. Rander, Alva O. Coy, Joe Rhoads, J. T. Shultz, L. A. Stevens, S. H. Riley, G. W. Campbell, Solan Chinn, J. E. Miller, H. B. Bean, Walter Knott, J. W. Wilson and Frank Lyons.

The Court's cases on Monday were disposed of as follows: Filled away with leave to reinstate on motion of Commonwealth Attorney or County Attorney: Roy Elder, Joe Elder, Sherman Kirk, et al., Charles Conder, Lee Fulkerson, et al., Ira Pillows, Cornelius L. Williams, Rufus Bartlett.

The cases ordered stricken off

Victor Matthews Marries.

Annet the marriage of Mr. Victor Matthews, formerly of this city and a son of editor Heber Matthews, of the Hartford Herald. The Hamilton, Ohio Evening Journal says:

"Victor Matthews, 22, a linotype operator at the Journal, and Miss Ethel Marie Leacock eloped to Covington, Ky., Tuesday morning and were married by Rev. Mr. Carlisle. The ceremony was performed at 11 o'clock after which the couple left for a trip through the South. Arriving at Louisville they wrote a letter home, explaining what had taken place and stating they will be home Thursday to receive the parental blessing. Miss Leacock is only 16 years of age."

The father of the young man was given a hint of the affair by a telegram requesting him to meet them at the L. & N. depot in Louisville last Wednesday morning and he did so, spending the day with the happy couple at the Willard. The bride is a beautiful girl of the blonde type, well educated a fine musician and a most charming personage. She comes of one of Hamilton's very best families. There was no objection to the union only the tender age of the young lady. The groom was born and reared in Hartford but for the past two years has held a good position as linotype operator on the Hamilton Journal. He is a fine workman and a trusted employe. They came to Louisville and returned by boat—the City of Louisville.

New Masonic Temple.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 7.—Committees appointed by Hopkinsville lodge No. 37, F. and A. M., are at work soliciting funds for the erection of a Masonic Temple in this city. Already a large sum has been subscribed and the lodge believes that it will be able to put up the building this spring.

METHODISTS TO PROVIDE FOR "WORN OUTS"

Will Raise Two Million Dollars to Support Superannuates.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Two million dollars for the support of the superannuated ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church was decided on by the board of conference at its annual meeting Wednesday.

Of this sum one million will be for distribution during the coming year in support of the worn out ministers and dependent children. The other million is to be raised for a permanent fund, the amount invested and added to in the future. The first million dollars will be raised during the current year. The time for raising the permanent fund is to be extended until the meeting of the General Conference in 1912.

Bishop Joseph Berry, of Buffalo, presided. In the election of officers Bishop Berry, who had been nominated by the Board of Bishops, was elected President. Oliver H. Horton was elected Vice President, Marvin Campbell, of South Bend, was elected Treasurer, and Rev. J. A. Mullinger was elected Recording Secretary.

Bishop Berry will lead an evangelistic conference Thursday, in which all the ministers of the Methodist Episcopal denomination will participate.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

Snakes Run Express Office.

Fort Collins, Colo., Feb. 7.—If you were employed by an express company, and if a woman left two boxes in your charge, with instructions to keep them in a cool place and if after an absence of two days, the lady returned, found the boxes rather in need of thawing and asked the privilege of opening her boxes near the stove; and if upon opening these boxes the lady should place a dozen chilly, but nevertheless venomous reptiles about that stove and should then depart on an errand—what would you do?

The chances are you would do just what the employees of the Adams express office in this city did when Inditta, a snake charmer, who showed a vaudeville theater here last week, carried out the program as outlined above, and got your feet on top of the highest table in the room.

The employees of the office kept themselves elevated on various pieces of furniture for nearly an hour as a big rattlesnake was not long in thawing out, and soon ruled the office. The snake charmer returned in time to save the employees from starvation and took possession of her pets.

$7,000 Ransom is Demanded.

New York, Feb. 7.—False clues will o' the wisp tips and delusive letters, one of which demands a $7,000 ransom, where all the comfort in the Arnold family got to-day in their search for Dorothy the missing daughter.

The detective bureau heard that Miss Arnold had been in the habit of calling at the general delivery window of the postoffice for foreign letters and that on the day of her disappearance she received such a letter. The family did not believe it. Francis R. Arnold, who is a millionaire importer of perfumes is still convinced that his daughter is dead, has epilepsy or is held for ransom by criminals.

John W. Arnold a brother arrived from Europe to-day. It came out this afternoon that Mrs. Arnold has broken down under the strain, and is being kept in seclusion with friends out of town.

From Philadelphia came a hearty conversation attributed to a taxicab chauffeur there in which the phrase, "The old man makes his money in perfume," occurred. The conversation indicated that Miss Arnold had been decoyed into an auto and kidnapped from New York, but it lacked confirmation. Circulars reproducing three of Miss Arnold's latest photographs and giving a minutely detailed description of her appearance were mailed to-day to every chief of police, town marshal and detective agency in the United

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left Side."

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade. I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured."

MRS. C. C. GOKEY, Northfield, Vt.

If you have any of the symptoms Mrs. Gokey mentions, it is your duty to protect yourself.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is what you need. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your money is returned. Ask your druggist.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

States and Canada with the offer of a reward of $1,000 for information leading to her recovery.

A demand for $7,000 ransom for Miss Arnold and an intimation that Arnold's home may be blown up are contained in one of the letters made public to-day. This letter, written in English, says:

"Your daughter is in very good hands. So if you wish your daughter back don't put the police on our tracks, as that Detective Flynn is no good and could not track us if he tried."

"Maybe, next week, next week after, you will find a neat package with some of Dorothy's curls in it so watch for it. You may think this is the Italian black hand, but it is the American black hand band."

"Beware of your fine house as it may be down to the ground inside of short time."

"If you will meet our man at the statue of Garibaldi at Washington park with the sum of 7,000 hard dollars your daughter will (not?) suffer a torture. Do not bring any police or 'twill be worse for your daughter than it will be for our band."

"Need the money."

"Yours truly, from

"THE BAND."

For Sale.

BARNETT & FOSTER, Agents, Hartford, Ky.

Cornstalks are on Sale.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 6.—The first consignment of a rather unusual commodity has been received by the American Milling company here. It is the first of 100,000 pounds of cornstalk pith through a chemical treatment sells it to the United States government under the name of cellulose to be used in the construction of battleships. The pith is greatly compressed and placed inside of the armor of a vessel. Should a shot from the enemy pierce the armor, the water would instantly cause the pith to expand and thus save the ship from all danger of sinking.

The company has met made any cellulose for about four years and the farmers throughout this section and Southern Indiana are greatly pleased that they are again to be paid for a product that has been of little value heretofore.

Wants The Republican in Her Home.

Agra, Okla., Feb. 1, 1911.

Please forward at once and oblige.

With best wishes to the grand old Republican and its many readers, I beg to remain. Sincerely yours, MRS. M. O. FREEMSTER.

BLIND TO GOOD LUCK.

Fable of the Weary Farmer and the Golden Plow.

There was once a Benevolent Fairy who was accustomed to doing Good Deeds in Whimsical Ways. One day she was flying across the country to attend a meeting of the A. O. B. F. when she noticed a Farmer laboring in the Fields. His horse was Attenuated and Deceitful, and his plow was Heavy and Old Fashioned. Often he would pause and wipe the sweat from his brow. Plainly he was having a Hard Time.

The Benevolent Fairy watched him a moment and observed his Haggard Look and his general air of Misery. Suddenly an idea came to her—to make this man Rich, so that he would no longer have to delve and struggle to eke out a Bare Living. So she swooped down and touched the plow with her wand—she was, of course, invisible—and instantly it was changed to Solid Gold. Then with an amused but kindly backward glance the Benevolent Fairy went on her way.

A year later, remembering the occurrence, she flew over to see how the Farmer was enjoying his Good Fortune. She found him in the Fields, plowing laboriously, and if anything he and his surroundings looked Meaner and More Miserable than they had before. Much surprised, the Fairy flew closer, just in time to hear him murmur:

"I wish this ding-busted plow wasn't so heavy!"

The Benevolent Fairy eyed him pityingly; then she once more touched the plow with her wand, and it again became a thing of wood and iron. Then she flew away, and the Farmer resumed his Toil.

After all, are there not some folk who would die of thirst adrift on a river?—Clifton B. Dowd in Lippincott's.

Reckless Age.

We have ceased to be thrifty. The nearest approach most of us make to the virtue is to go get our banks to let us overdraw our accounts.

The fathers have eaten grapes and the children are eating grape fruit. We used to buy apples by the barrel, now we buy them as we would buy jewelry, each in its separate wrapper. We used to eat have porterhouse steaks. Our wives used to help the general housework girl, with the cooking; now we need two maids, a laundress and a man to wash windows. When we were boys we did chores and wore our father's old clothes; nowadays the American boy needs an allowance stockings that match his neckties and tuxedo jacket. We used to think it an extravagance to keep a $150 horse and a $100 buggy now we buy an automobile and mortgage our house to pay for it. "Easy come, easy go," was the old motto. "Easy come, gone before it comes," is the modern.

One chief cause of high prices is trust—our creditors' trust. Everybody wants to sell us something and charge it to our account. So we accommodate 'em and acquire a habit of reckless expenditure. What difference does it make whether eggs are 35 cents or 80 cents a dozen, if we do not have to pay cash for 'em? We are spendthrifts in the midst of a credit system. When we sober up prices will come down.—World To-day.

Notice to Subscribers.

When you fail to get your paper regularly notify this office. We have no means whatever of knowing if you do not get your paper, unless you notify us, and we want every one of our subscribers to get The Republican every week.

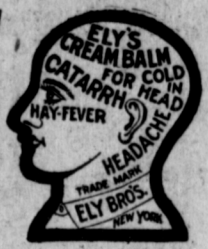

When you change your address notify us promptly, and give your old address as well as your new post office address.

When you write to this office always give your post office address, for some time it is quite necessary to write you, and we have no way of telling where you get your mail, only by looking at the stamp on the envelope, and sometimes that it is very indefinite.

Do not feel timid in telling us when you have a visitor, when you or some member of your family are going some where. We always want to print the news, and can come nearer doing that if you will tell us a few news items.

A ROMANCE.

The Story as "It Was Told" by Picture Postals.

By AGNES G. BROGAN.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

"Mike" was not his true name. It had been bestowed by the clerks at "Station D" because of the never failing good humor and ready wit which characterized the stout, red haired, postman, who had been in the service of the United States government as long as the men could remember, and so generally was the name adopted that Mike himself had almost forgotten the proper one.

The picture postals which found their way into his bag were a source of unending delight, and often Mike could follow the travels of some favorite by merely reading the cards as they were sent home.

As he neared the stone house with the white rosebush growing beside the veranda the postman unconsciously quickened his steps and searched eagerly among the letters, for he never liked to disappoint Miss Isabel. She was one of the few who had not changed entirely in the process of growing up. Mike ascended the steps, looking admiringly at the picture of a very blue lake surrounded by very green trees. Upon the opposite side of the card he read:

"I GUESS IT'S FOR THE NURSE."

Dear Mother-Cousin Robert and his friend met me at the station. I am having a fine time. ISABEL.

"So she's away," Mike mused, a little disappointedly. "Well, she'll have the good time all right." And so it seemed, judging from the many gaily postals interspersed with thick letters which were received daily at the stone house.

Miss Isabel wrote constantly of pleasure trips with "Cousin Robert and his friend," who later came to be designated as "Robert's friend Billy," and then when the long summer was drawing to an end the obliging Cousin Robert's company seemed to be dispensed with, for the postals read simply, "Billy and I were here today."

Mike chuckled as he handed one of these cards to the maid. "She won't be coming home in a hurry," he said confidentially. But in this he was mistaken, for she came smilingly to meet him a few days afterward.

"I suppose I will have a bundle of letters for you soon," he remarked.

"I hope so," she answered gayly.

He searched expectantly through his pack next morning, and, sure enough, there it was, "I will write you to-night—yours, Billy," while a printed verse, stated the fact that "absence makes the heart grow fonder."

They came thick and fast after that—letters, cards, a photograph or two and bulging little packages, all addressed in the same free, bold hand which Mike learned to recognize instantly. Isabel was always there as he came down the street, apparently absorbed in sewing or hovering about the rosebush with a great pretense of examining its leaves. When Mike presented his offering she would receive it with the open delight of a child.

"It's from Billy," he would say and go away laughing at her confusion. The old postman was vastly interested in the unfolding love story, but there came a time when the girl waited in vain, and he dreaded to meet her questioning eyes, for Billy's letters had ceased abruptly.

Mike pondered deeply. The shrewd eyes could read more than postal cards, and he was sure that she had been too fond of this Billy to send him away. Had the mother interfered or—his face darkened savagely—was the fellow himself to blame?

One morning as Mike was preparing to start out upon his rounds the familiar bold handwriting flashed into view as though in answer to his troubled thoughts. The freckled hand trembled as he held the postal up to the light. It was the picture of a great ocean steamer, and the message upon the addressed side danced dizzily for a moment before his eyes. "Have engaged passage for Oct. 5," he read.

"Goodbye forever, little Isabel Drew. Billy."

And the old postman fought with the greatest temptation of his life—to destroy a part of Uncle Sam's mail. When he saw the little white lady leaning back wearily in her chair upon the veranda Mike was certain that he would have preferred to pay the full penalty due such a crime than to have been the bearer of this cruel missive. He avoided her eyes as he turned away, but there was a tremulous little catch in the voice which thanked him.

To his great relief, Isabel no longer awaited his coming, and when he next left a letter for her mother it was a white capped nurse who responded to his ring.

"Young lady sick?" Mike asked in a tone which was supposed to express only polite interest, and the nurse answered gravely:

"Yes; she is very sick indeed."

He stopped to inquire every day after that, and then pursued his way gloomily. "Mike is getting peevish," the clerks at the office said in surprise. An air of intense anxiety seemed to pervade the atmosphere of the stone house, and the bell was muffled, for the patient had reached the crisis when Mike again appeared at the door. He was awkwardly holding a parcel wrapped in tissue paper.

"She used to like white roses," he said to the nurse. "Put these in her room."

At length news came that Isabel was really getting better. The air of depression vanished. Once more Mike's whistle sounded cheerily. Then he became puzzled over a letter which unmistakably bore Billy's handwriting and yet was not directed to the girl he had treated so cruelly. Mike finally came to the conclusion that the fellow had written to the nurse desiring information concerning Isabel's condition, and he fervently hoped that she "wouldn't make it up with him."

He fingered the letter guiltily as he approached the house and saw Isabel herself standing upon the veranda. A sudden moisture filled the sympathetic postman's eye, for she was such a small, white Isabel. Her dark hair had been cut, and the short curls seemed to change her back again into the little girl who had raced to meet him upon her way from school.

"I am glad you are better," he said heartily, and she smiled.

"Thank you," she answered softly. "You have been very kind. Any letters today?"

Mike drew a long breath. "There's one here," he said hesitatingly. "I guess it's for the nurse—addressed to Mrs. William D. Rhodes."

Isabel extended an eager hand. "Why, Mike," she said, laughing happily, "don't you know—that I am Mrs. William Rhodes?"

He stared at her unbelievably. "You," he repeated dully—"you Mrs. Rhodes, and it wasn't the Billy fellow after all?"

"Oh, but it was," she said rather confusingly. "For Billy is William Rhodes."

The old postman still looked bewildered. "You married to him all the while," he said slowly, "and me thinking when the letters stopped and he went away bidding you 'goodbye forever' on a postal card that it was all over with."

She laughed merrily at his unblushing confession to reading her mail. "I understand now," she said, "your disappointment at having no letters to deliver, but you see when we became engaged Billy managed to be transferred to the company's office here, so there was no further need of correspondence. We were married quietly the very day before I was taken desperately ill with typhoid fever, which had been threatening me for so long. Billy has been with me through it all, and now that I am strong enough—the girl's eyes shone—"we are going upon our long postponed wedding trip to Europe. The card you spoke of," she explained kindly, "was sent from New York, where Billy had gone to engage our passage, and, knowing that I was to be married the next day, he bade goodbye forever to Isabel Drew."

Mike replaced his cap and sorted out another handful of letters. The infectious smile appeared upon his face, and the Irish blue eyes twinkled. "You can't always take it from the postals," he said.

At the foot of the stair he doffed his cap again. "I wish you much happiness, Mrs. Rhodes," he added ceremoniously, and the girl watched him far down the street.

"Never was wish more sincere," she murmured softly. The days followed each other uneventfully. No girlish face bent over the rosebushes or smiled from the window, and then one morning Mike discovered among his letters one bearing a European postmark and addressed in a small, neat hand—which he well remembered—to Mrs. James Drew.

It would naturally be supposed that such a bulky letter could convey all the news necessary, but with it, also directed to Mrs. Drew, came a picture postal, the same white boat which had at one time aroused Mike's anger, and beneath the boat was penned:

You will be glad to know that Billy and I have arrived safely and are well and happy. ISABEL RHODES.

The postman ascended the steps of the stone house. "There's a letter for Mrs. Drew," he informed the maid who opened the door, "and a postal card for me."

"You!" the girl exclaimed scornfully. "Why, it's for her too?"

"I am not so sure of that," Mike answered knowingly. "But you may let her have it."

The door closed with a bang, for the maid had long since ceased trying to understand Mike and his ways; and the whistled tune, "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" floated riotously down the street.

Household Helps.

Good Rice Pudding.—Cover one-half cupful of well-washed rice with one quart of cold water and let it come to a boil. Drain off the water, cover the rice with one quart of milk and let it simmer until so soft it may be pressed through a sieve. Add to the sifted rice the beaten yolks of six eggs, one cupful of shaved maple sugar. Cook and stir over the fire until it begins to thicken, then set aside to cool, and stir in one teaspoonful of vanilla. When cold turn into a mold, cover and pack in the usual way.

Sweet Chutney.—Chop fine two green peppers, first removing the seeds, eight good-sized green tomatoes, four peeled onions, on cup seeded raisins and one dozen peeled apples. After the roughly chopping mix and add two cups of brown sugar one quart of best vinegar two tablespoonfuls each of salt and dry mustard. Put in porcelain kettle and cook slowly for over an hour. Put up in small glass jars.

Enamel Cement. For mending enamel ware, pots and pans, where a hole has been made, or the enamel has been chipped off, take equal parts of soft putty, finely sifted coal ashes and sifted table salt; mix all together and pack into the hole well. Place the pot on the stove with a little water in it until the cement hardens. It never falls off; it is as hard as the enamel itself.

Corn Soup.—Open a can of corn, empty, into a saucepan, and cover with water. Let come to a boil, add plenty of sweet milk and cream, and let stand until thoroughly heated, then pour through a colander to remove the coarse part of corn. Return to the fire, season with salt, pepper and butter, and serve with crackers or wafers.

Poached Apricots.—Line a dish with slices of stale sponge cake, on each sliced placing half an apricot. Whip some white of egg to a stiff froth sweeten with powdered sugar and place around the apricot so as to make them resemble poached eggs.

To Remove Gum.—To remove gum from any fabric soak in kerosene and it will soften so it can easily be removed.

Divinity Candy.—Two cupfuls granulated sugar, one half cupful syrup, one half cupful water. Cook till it threads a little, then pour in white of one egg well beaten; beat till it is creamy, then add one cupful walnuts chopped fine.

Toasted Marshmallows.—Toasted marshmallows are delicious served as follows: Place each marshmallow on a square cracker and before placing in the oven to toast put a tiny bit of butter on each marshmallow. This makes them brown quickly. Serve as soon as taken from the oven.

Pralines.—Two cupfuls of sugar, one half cupful of maple syrup, one half cupful of cream. Boil until a soft ball can be formed when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, adding a tablespoonful of butter, and beat until creamy, putting in a cup of chopped nut meats and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Drop into buttered tins and set outdoors to cool.

Peanut Brittle.—Two cupfuls of granulated sugar should be put into a granite saucepan and allowed to melt, being stirred constantly to avoid burning. When the sugar is all melted pour over peanuts which have been placed in the bottom of a shallow buttered pan.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Home-Made Valentine.

"Margaret had gone West the first of the year," says Amy Richardson in Woman's Home Companion for February, "and as the feast of Saint Valentine approached she wondered what she should send home to her nearest and dearest in memory of the day. Her glance wandered to her photograph album on the table. 'I have it,' she said as she took snapshot after snapshot of herself from the book. Of the particularly good likenesses she had duplicates made. Then with red and white crepe paper, lace paper torn from candy boxes thin cardboard, bits of ribbon, water-color paints, crayons, library paste, scissors and some tiny bottles of liquid gold and silver, she sat herself down to make valentines."

"Large red cardboard hearts with a little butterfly bow of red satin ribbon drawn through the top and a picture of herself in the center of the heart and a valentine wish printed in gold around it, was the model for a number of valentines."

"Square, old-fashioned, lace-paper ones, with tiny red hearts pasted here and there on the white paper, with Margaret's smiling face in the center was another style. These should be made on a foundation of light-weight cardboard, starting with a lace paper trim pasted on the edge and working in toward the center."

"A cabbage rose of tinted crepe paper with a Margaret head in the heart of it; a book-mark of three pieces of red ribbon with a red and gilt heart at the end of each and a snapshot in the middle of the heart; or a book-mark made from white bristol-board with a head at the top, a shower of hearts and arrows pasted down the center and a valentine wish; and then some plain correspondence-cards with a gold or silver line drawn around the edge with her picture in one corner and a little note or rhyme of love and good wishes printed in gold letters beneath—these were some of the simple ideas she used."

Not Finished.

"Americans are so unfinished," has been the complaint of Europeans. We are and glad of it. Yankees are starting the world with their achievements and will, we believe, stick to the habit.

In Olden Times.

One of our girls asks how the young people of long ago used to get together and have a good time. She says it is almost impossible to get up social features without expensive "refreshments," which everyone cannot afford. She says she lives in a farming community, but that really tells but little. In the olden times, there was always singing schools, spelling bees, church gatherings, not the least attractive among which was the weekly "mite society," the financial results of which served to swell the church funds considerably while they afforded the young people as well as their elders, unlimited opportunities to get acquainted. There were the old-fashioned candy-pullings, rag-tackings, corn-huskings, wool-pulling and other industrial "meets" where there was always more fun and frolic than work accomplished. At most of these there were refreshments but they were of the "home-grown" and home-made varieties that were always at hand in the winter season. There were grange meetings, and box suppers, birthday and anniversary parties, while very often, for the elders, there were wood-cutting and quilting bees, the moon cutting the fire-wood and storing it while the woman quilted fine tacked comforts. At these was always a substantial dinner and at night the young people came while the more quiet-loving, elder people went home. These were the disquisitions of both farm and village folks, and in many instances the two classes met for a good time.

Distance was no bar to the socials in those days, and the matter of fine clothing seldom came up, though everybody had their "best," and wore it. Nothing not even the young peoples themselves, were "too good for the home-folks," and if only some of the old-time meetings could be reinstated in country communities, the lads and lasses would not so often sigh for the alluring excitements of the great terrible city—EX.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10.

We are of the opinion that Mr. Johnson simply lost his nerve.

The Frankfort News and Journal have been consolidated. It is to be hoped that the two may make one respectable paper for the capitol city.

It seems that the voracity of three Democratic judges of the Court of Appeals has been sharply questioned in the controversy growing out of the card issued by Hon. Ben Johnson, in his withdrawal as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

We see no sense whatever in all of this turmoil and strife among our Democratic friends over the primary, to say nothing of the expenditure of about twenty thousand dollars to determine what set of men are going to be defeated by the Republicans at the November election.

We agree with Hon. Ben Johnson that a man's religion should not be made a target when he becomes a candidate for office. The question is whether or not he is thoroughly patriotic and is willing and able to serve his country above anything else when entrusted with power.

The Ohio County farmer who is compelled to travel over the muddy roads, which are always worse in February than any other month, to attend the session of the Ohio Circuit Court, will please remember that the change in date for our court was made by the Democrats.

The farmer is beginning to realize that a further revision of the tariff means financial loss to him, and when his pocket book has felt the effects of tariff tinkering, as it is about to feel it, he will be in the same frame of mind at that time as he was in at the time of the adoption of the Wilson-Gorman bill.

The Democratic party in Kentucky is thoroughly at sea since the withdrawal of Hon. Ben Johnson, as a candidate for the nomination for governor and the broad side he threw into the machine which had been organized to bring about his defeat either in the primary or at the general election in November.

The Kentucky sheep is now under quarantine because of scabbies, however this is nothing to compare with the brand of scabbies which the Democratic party is seeking to put upon him through the placing of wool on the free list. If this is done it will not be necessary to quarantine Kentucky sheep in a few years.

This is the day of Insurgents. A combination of Republicans and Democratic Insurgents in Tennessee regular in the defeat of the regular Democratic nominee for United States Senator. In New York it is announced an effort will be made to bring about the same result. It will be remembered that Democracy spent months last year carefully watering and cultivating Republican insurgency. It seems to be coming home to them early.

The coming contest in Kentucky will be fought on state issues, and while a United States Senator is to be elected by the legislature which will be chosen at the coming November election, we doubt very much whether the tariff will cut any figure in the campaign. People are interested in the welfare of the state and the adoption of wholesome laws which will benefit our own people primarily more than they are in tariff commissions, etc.

The Democratic members of Congress in caucus have decided by an overwhelming majority to support the Canadian reciprocity treaty which is a direct blow to every farmer in the entire country. It can be of no interest to any farmer in the United States to have wheat, corn, potatoes, butter and eggs placed on the free list so far as Canada is concerned. It is simply a gracious gift of a great market to a foreign country and is a slap at our own agricultural industries.

The Republicans of Kentucky will have plenty of progress in their State platform. They will leave out none of the things which are sure to promote the welfare, happiness and progress of the state. Good roads, better schools, a better tax system, freedom of charitable and penal institutions from politics, fair elections and a fair apportionment of the state into Congressional, representatives and judicial districts. These are among the progressive things for which Kentucky Republicans will take a firm stand. As the Democrats will likely have no platform, we shall expect them or all of them except the machine to join with us in the parrying out of these pledges in behalf of the people.

WILL HURT THE FARMERS.

The proposed Reciprocity treaty with Canada which has been submitted to Congress by the President and which is being supported by the Democratic party is a long step in the direction of free trade. Under this treaty, if adopted, the farmers of the United States will receive the worst blow which they have ever had by the enactment of National legislation. Canada is an agricultural country, pure and simple. The Canadian farmer is a large exporter of grain of all kinds, eggs, potatoes, etc. Under this treaty the twenty-five cents per bushel tariff on wheat, the duties on eggs, potatoes and all other farm products will be taken off and Canada will be permitted to trade absolutely free with the people of the United States. We do not believe that this will make any noticeable change in the price of these products so far as the consumer is concerned but it will make a difference to the farmers of the United States. It will furnish an excuse to crowd down the prices of their products while the middle man, cold storage and speculators will reap the harvest. Canada has nothing to offer this country in return for the giving up of this advantage to our own farmers, and we are opposed to it, because it will hurt every farmer in the United States. That it is not to be adopted without a protest from this class of our citizens who constitute the bone and sinew of our country is evidenced by the fact that the Grange, American Society of Equity and other farm organizations are petitioning Congress against the treaty. Even farmers of our own section of the state are quick to see the injuries which it will do to them and at the meeting of the Green River Tobacco district of the American Society of Equity which was held at Owensboro last week, the following resolution was presented and unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, through the press of the country, we have heard of a proposed agreement between this country and Canada, whereby this country proposes to reduce the tariff on certain articles almost entirely products of the farm, and in return proposes to reduce the tariff on certain articles, mostly manufactures, and whereas, it is known to all men that under the present tariff scheme the farmer is the least protected of any class in the country, therefore be it,

Resolved, that we recommend that our secretary instruct the congressmen and senators from Kentucky that we are opposed to the ratification of this measure and we ask them to stand against it, and stand for a year and may vote on it when it is presented to congress for consideration."

What can our free trade or low tariff democratic papers say about this? They have always advocated an onslaught on the tariff during campaigns. But when it is brought home to them, as it is about to be through the proposed treaty, will they personally endorse it? They cannot, be consistent and do otherwise.

BEAVER DAM

Feb. 8.—Health is very good in this vicinity.

The Sunday School at the Baptist Church had the largest attendance Sunday known since its organization. After services the audience of Baptism was administered to eight candidates. Those baptized were Mrs. Hazlip, Mrs. Clarence Dunn, Mrs. B. C. Austin, Misses Myra Flenor, Louise Jones, Clifffe Austin, Irene Rhoads and Bessie Hazelrigg.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moorman and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens spent Sunday at South Carrollton.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Myers spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tichenor.

Mr. Jim Tichenor went to Hartford and Centertown Monday on business.

Mr. B. C. Austin went to Pleasant Ridge and Owensboro Monday on business.

Miss Jennie Gatewood, of Princeton, was the guest of Miss Myrtle Miller the past week.

Mrs. Mable Sandefur of Hartford, is the guest of her mother and sister here this week.

Master Ramsey Taylor, of Princeton was the guest of his grand parents here Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Ceol Wright of Evansville, Ind. visited Dr. Sim Taylor's family last week.

Mrs. Sinda Wilson and son Robert were in town last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosco Taylor and mother Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Allen Gentry were in town Saturday.

NO CREEK.

Feb. 6.—Rev. W. H. Crain filled his regular appointment at Wesley Chapel Church Sunday. We had a full sized congregation, and a good sermon.

Prof. C. E. Allen closed his school at this place last Friday. Several of the patrons of the school were present. Mr. J. P. Foster and Prof. Allen made good talks. The scholars gave their teacher a nice bible, which was delivered in an appropriate manner. Prof. Allen has made many friends in NoCreek during his stay with us. The schools and patrons would like to have him teach another school here.

The Hefflin Camp No. 319 Woodmen of the World had quite an interesting meeting Thursday night. The campers to build a hall soon at Hefflin. A committee has been appointed to look after the new building proposition.

Mrs. A. M. McCormick is very sick at this writing. Her death is expected at any time.

Some of our farmers attempted to farm some last week. They seemed to be busy breaking ground and turning plant beds.

There was quite a little excitement in our neighborhood last Saturday night. Little Winano Dodson, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mr. Elder Dodson went out of the house, and her mother told her not to go out, but the child replied she was going out where her brother was. Mrs. Dodson went about her work not thinking more of the child. When Mr. Hudson came from feeding he inquired of the little girl's whereabouts. They began looking for her, but she could not be found. Mrs. Dodson ran over to A. L. Stevens thinking she would find her there, but did not. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens started in the search with Mrs. Dodson. The alarm was given by ringing the dinner bell, and Mr. Hudson went to Esq. Chamberlain's thinking the child might be there. Mr. Chamberlain and his boys joined the searching party also Mr. J. P. Foster and boys and Mr. James Hudson. They kept up the search for nearly an hour. Finally it was discovered that the child had been found in the mud near Mr. L. P. Sandefur's. Mr. Sherman was close by and told the other searchers. The little child said she was hunting Daddy. Mr. Dodson had gone to Buford on some business, and had not returned, and the little one was anxious for him. "B"

Death of William Harrison Taylor.

The death of Mr. William Harrison Taylor occurred at his home on Washington street Thursday morning at 2 o'clock. For several months he had been in very bad health and an invalid and for the past week his death was expected at any time. Wednesday afternoon it was thought the end had come, but he appeared to rally, death coming a short time later. Mr. Taylor was well known throughout the county, and there will be many sorry to learn of his death.

Besides a wife, four children survive him, as follows: Mr. Henry B. Taylor and Mrs. B. F. Zimmerman, of Louisville, Mrs. W. M. Fair and Miss Eva Taylor of this city.

The funeral services will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from the Methodist church, of which denomination Mr. Taylor had been a faithful member for many years. These services will be conducted by Rev. Virgil Elgin, assisted by Rev. J. W. Bruner. Interment will follow at Oakwood. The Republican joins the many friends in extending sympathy to the family in this hour of bereavement.

Notice to Creditors.

Creditors of the Ohio County Bank will please come forward and settle their indebtedness. It is my purpose and the desire of everybody connected with the bank to have dividends declared to the depositors as speedily as possible. This cannot be done unless creditors of the bank will assist by meeting their obligations.

A. E. PATE, Assignee.

SMALLHOUS.

Feb. 7.—Rev. H. P. Brown of Rockport, Ky., was in our midst Saturday afternoon and Sunday to fill his regular appointments at Smallhouse church. He was the guest Saturday night of Mrs. Jennie Ross and dined with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter Sunday.

Those who attended church Sunday from a distance were Messrs. S. W. Bilbro and step-son, Bernard Withrow, of near Matanzas, who were the guest of Mr. Alonzo France, Sunday, and Messrs. Guy and Earl Barnard and J. C. Hill, of South Carrollton.

Mrs. John Barnard, who is still seriously ill at her home near here, was thought to be some better yesterday.

Mr. Robert Hunter has returned from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. S. Trumbull, of Utica.

Miss Ethel Hunter, who has been teaching near Utica the past five months, has returned home.

Miss Bessie Ball spent several days the guest of her sister, Mrs. Henderson Steensman, near Matanzas.

Mrs. N. D. Fulkerson is the guest of her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Withrow, of Central City, who have a new-baby girl, born recently.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Overhals and Mrs. Will Bullock spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Igleheart, near Moorman.

Little John Vernon Calloway, who has been quite ill, was able to be out to church Sunday.

Mrs. Alonzo France and little sons, Willard and Jake France, are on the sick list.

Mr. J. C. Hill and family, of near South Carrollton, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Maddox Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Sam Taylor, of Beaver Dam, and Mr. William Russell, of Echols, were here Friday.

Mr. Simon Stephens went to Central City Saturday.

Mrs. J. F. Everly spent Saturday and Sunday in Rockport.

Mrs. Mority House spent Saturday and Sunday in Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jahn left Sunday for their new home in Elkton, where they will reside for the future. They have our best wishes, as they were deserving and good people.

Miss Pearl Stewart returned to her home at Horse Branch Sunday after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ashley for the past week.

Messrs. Simon Jones and Sam James, Sr., are on the sick list at this writing with the grip. There is a lot of sickness in and around this community.

Making a Bad Situation Worse.

To tell the farmers of the United States that they are getting too much money for their products and that prices are to be forced down to a low level by the unrestricted admission of cheaper products from Canada, while the general range of Tariff duties on articles competing with the products of American manufacture remain unchanged; to say to the farmer that he must sell for less what he has to sell but pay as much as ever for what he has to buy—is that a good preparation for the presidential campaign of 1912? Was not the situation bad enough already? Will not the Tariff ripping mug-wumps be satisfied until they shall have completely disgusted the American farmer and handed over to the Free-Trade Democrats both houses of Congress and the presidency?

BALD KNOB.

Feb. 8.—There will be singing at this place next Sunday night every body come.

People are busy burning and sowing plant beds in this neighborhood.

Mr. Letcher Taylor lost a nice two year old calf last Thursday by a mule kicking it in the forehead and breaking its skull.

County Superintendent Leach has received word from the State Superintendent that the February salaries will not arrive next Saturday for the teachers. Mr. Leach is of the opinion, however that it will not be a short time until the money will arrive.

Mr. Robert A. Bennett, of 504 Albina Ave., Portland, Oregon has sent us a copy of The Oregonian, of Portland, celebrating its Fiftieth Anniversary with a mammoth paper of 128 large pages. It is a creditable piece of newspaper enterprise and reflects the industry of the State of Oregon. Mr. Bennett will please accept our thanks.

Mr. Herbert Sanders, of Louisville, Ky., arrived Wednesday afternoon to take charge of the store of the Ohio County Drug Co. Mr. Sanders formerly lived in Owensboro, later in the drug business in McHenry and Central City. He is well known throughout the county and the drug company was fortunate in securing his services.

Mrs. Emory Schroeder received a message Wednesday from Miss Florence Jones, of Drakeboro, Ky., stating that her father who has been ill for over a year, is considerably worse, and he is not expected to live but a short time. Miss Jones lived here for many months and has a host of friends here, who regret her father's illness and sympathize with her.

In a letter to the Junior editor, Dr. C. R. Bennett, who recently went to Chicago to enter the second year's work in the medical college, he states that he is greatly pleased with Chicago, and likes the instructors and the college. He states that he has seen Messrs. Grossie and John J. Williams, old Hartford boys, that both of them have splendid positions and are "making good."

The College Basket Ball teams here have reorganized and are getting in shape to respond to a few of the challenges received lately. They are spending spare hours on the ball ground practicing and hope to be in good shape in a few weeks. Unfortunately there was no indoor place in which to play and the boys had to drop the game last fall, and from this reason several days practice is needed in order to put them in condition to play a match game. But there is hope of there being a match game yet whether it be days or weeks off.

Gertie, the eight year old daughter of Whitford Phelps, of Taylor Mines, died Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from horrible burns received about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The little child was standing before the fire and pouring some turpentine on the finger of a smaller child, the turpentine catching fire and soon little Gertie's clothes were afire nearly all over. She ran out of the house in the wind for over 200 yards and all of her garments were completely burned off. Dr. Moore, of Beaver Dam, was called but it was impossible for him to do anything but give relief for a few minutes at a time.

VISION BEFORE MOLESTING GRAVE

Thought Body of Saufley Would Rise Again.

Declares That She Removed the Dirt From Grave With Her Own Hands.

Standford, Ky., Feb. 4.—"A vision from God told me he would rise again," asserted Mrs. Amanda Harrison, in her confession before Judge Bailey, late to-day, that she had worked all Monday night, digging in to the grave and removing the casket containing the body of George B. Saufley, an attorney, which was found above the grave in the cemetery early the next day.

Mrs. Harrison was apprehended in a remote part of Adair county to-day, and readily admitted her connection with what had been supposed to be an attempted grave robbery, and asserted that she was assured that the attorney would rise from the dead, if the earth covering him should be removed and his mortal frame exposed to the air.

Confiding her intention to no one, Mrs. Harrison went about her plans for freeing the body of the dead attorney from the grave. Before leaving her home on the night of her quest, she prayed fervently, and, stealing into the cemetery about midnight began her uncanny task.

With her own hands, she said, she shoveled the dirt from the grave, working until daylight, confident that the end of her task meant the restoration to life in flesh of the attorney who secured a divorce for her.

After she had removed all of the dirt and casket from the grave Mrs. Harrison said she was unable to get the outer lid off, and dawn near, she abandoned her task. A son and one of her tenants drove her to Adair county.

Life, Not Organization, First Concern of Methodism.

(Central Methodist.)

We are anxious to see what effect this ecclesiastical flirtation, called "Church Union," is going to have on Methodism. It may not seem dignified to use such words as "ecclesiastical flirtation" concerning a movement that has back of it many prominent and sincere "churchmen," but we mean no disrespect to those men.

We hasten to say too, that no reference is meant here to "Methodist Organic Union." That is a family affair that will be treated apart from the general question of union, from time to time, till it is disposed of. We are writing now of that great parade of ecclesiastical sentiment which grows out of the idea of uniting all Christian denominations into one visible Church.

That "purity in politics is an iridescent dream," of Kansas, originated a famous saying by asserting that "purity in politics is an iridescent dream." (And he did not then know what we have recently found out about the Illinois legislature nor the late election in Adams county, Ohio.) We do not allude to the Senator's famous saying to endorse his view of politics, because the people ought to purify politics, and can do it but we want to use his striking phrase by saying that uniting all Christian denominations into one church is an "iridescent dream."

Bishop McTear, in his History of Methodism, shows clearly that it was a "new life and not a new organization" that originated the Methodist movement. Methodism was not organized into a church to furnish the world with a model ecclesiastical organization. It has grown into a creditable and admirable form of Church government and worship, but it does not claim absolute scriptural warrant for every detail of either form or policy. It modestly claims adherence to New Testament trend and principle, recognizing that there is no detailed form of worship nor of church government prescribed in the inspired word. Hence, Methodism has never claimed to be the Church of

"Cured Neuralgia Pain" "I take pleasure in writing to you that I had a neuralgia pain in my arm for five years, and I used your Liniment for one week and was completely cured. I recommend your Liniment very highly."—Mrs. J. McGraw, 216 Mandeville St., New Orleans, La.

Cured Quinsy Sore Throat

MR. HENRY L. CAULK, of 1242 Wilson St., Wilmington, Del., writes:—"I bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for the quinsy sore throat and it cured me. I shall always keep a bottle in the house."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

gives instant relief from rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, croup, sore throat, tonsillitis, hoarseness and chest pains.

Christ, but a Church of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The trouble with this whole matter is that persons who insist most on uniting all churches into one thing that the church to which they belong is the church, and that all others are wrong and should come into their church. That is begging the whole question and therefore makes no good impression on the great number of persons it seeks to change.

The position that Methodist people have always held is that the essential unity of Christ's church is spiritual, not formal and inward rather than outward. That seems to have been what Jesus was praying for when He asked that they should all be one. He evidently was not praying for different Christian denominations to unite for the divisions did not exist at that time.

The fact that the Salvation Army has come into existence, and that other denominations are proposing to unite with the Methodists into a great union church might be taken to indicate that Methodism has not been strictly true to its mission and traditions.

Its mission has not been in the direction of a perfect ecclesiastism, nor model forms of work and worship but in deep and powerful spiritual life. Its great work has been to bring lost souls to God, and build up Christian people in the faith of the gospel and in personal experience.

If it begins to leave the work of saving the neglected classes to the Salvation Army, and to give its time and attention to negotiating plans for union with other denominations to form one gigantic church organization, then its mission "to spread scriptural holiness over the lands" will seem to have ceased.

Are You a Woman?

Baltimore, Md.—Mrs. W. H. Ison, at 1419 East Madison street writes, "For several years, I suffered, off and on, from womanly troubles, until finally I was taken down and could do nothing. The pains I experienced, I shall never forget. I lost weight until I was only skin and bones. I believe I would be in my grave if I had not tried Cardui." Are you like Mrs. Ison weak and discouraged, because of some painful ailment? Cardui will help you. Try it today. Any druggist will be glad to sell you a bottle.

Dollars and Bushels.

Last year's crops in the United States was in round numbers, 31, 121,000,000 bushels. Munsey calls attention to the fact that this is approximately the actual number of dollars in circulation throughout the United States. It means, of course, that were it necessary to buy spot cash the crop of Indian corn our farmer harvested last autumn, paying for it $1 a bushel, it would "swipe" every American dollar now in circulation.

Gumption on the Farm.

A loose board too often squeaks loudly of loose methods.

All sorts of odd jobs are in order now; and get the whitewash brush ready to flop.

Sow clover seed twice to be sure it will take, and don't forget the alkali along with the red.

It is too late when the stack has tumbled and smothered your best cow to regret not having fenced it off.

Get any extra plow-points or other fixtures you may need, before you get out the plow for the spring work.

Never run for an office; better to so deport yourself and so conduct your affairs that your neighbors will set the office running after you.

If you have any iron or other metal roofs take a comfortable spell and paint them. Get all such jobs out of the way before something else begins to crowd you.

The proposal to confine parcels post to rural routes if made into law, will work in the interest of the express companies and not of the rural population. It is foolishness.

Are patches in the yard bare of grass? After the first thaw sprinkle some Kentucky bluegrass on them and rake in when ground gets dry enough. A little white clover too.

Are you really in the harness for business now? Many folks are. Buckle the straps good luck in the ends and let the other fellow do the kicking. Keep your own legs inside the traces and pull true all the time.

Frost, and digging post-holes, do not go together very well; but as soon as the earth does soften up, you will have the very best time of all the years to get ready for the fence. It isn't nearly such hard work then as it is later when the earth is as dry and hard as a bone.

To renew worn meadows without plowing it, give it a thorough harrowing so that the carpet of sod is well torn to bits, then top-dress heavily with sown grass seed, and harrow and brush smooth. This especially true of land that is shallow and stony and hard to plow, land that is full of knolls and hollows. The process levels and improves such surfaces.

It pays to go down to the city and work up a trade for the farm products. Hunt up customers for the butter, eggs, apples, potatoes cabbage and all such stuff. Have a regular market day when you can always be found there. Folks will expect you and depend on you. They will pay you cash and as good prices as they would have to pay at the store, because they get better weight and measure and fresher produce.

For a water-pipe burst by the frost: Get at a drug-store, or from your doctor, a plaster bandage two inches wide. Hold it in a bowl of water till the bubbles stop rising. Then at once wrap it around and around the broken pipe, smoothing with the hands as you go. Thus you will make a splint similar in shape to the twisted joint which the plumbers make. It will last long and will not leak.

We see no logical reason—do you?—why a prosperous farmer should put all his money in the bank and let the repair of farm buildings, fences, etc., be neglected. Money and time are well spent in keeping up farm buildings, and fences. It's all right to save something, as we go along, for a rainy day; but there is more pleasure for the whole family in a smaller bank account, and in having things neatly kept—to improve rather than to deteriorate.—February Farm Journal.

Spit, Quit, Fit.

Hines, Ala.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Eula Mae Bradley says: "I used to spit up all I eat. I was tired and sleepy all the time. My head ached, and I could hardly drag around. Since taking Cardui, this has entirely quit, and now I feel quite fit. Mrs. Bradley suffered from nervous indigestion. Cardui builds up the nervous system, and strengthens the womanly constitution. That's why Cardui helped Mrs. Bradley and why it will help you. Try it.

A Girl's Valentine Club.

"In a Southern town a dozen young girls have formed themselves into a Valentine Club," says Grace M. Upjohn in Woman's Home Companion for February. "During the year they give subscription card-parties and amateur theatricals and with the proceeds from these entertainments they make Saint Valentine Day a very happy one for many people. There is no universal hurry and flurry at this time of year, as there is a Christmas and so the girls go about their pleasure-giving, quietly and thoughtfully.

"And there are not lace-paper valentines, for a substantial bag or two of coal will go to a needy family, or perhaps a bundle of wood. A loaf cake or a box of small cakes and cookies, wrapped in white tissue paper and tied with red ribbon, will be appreciated by the busy housewife.

"They make the rounds of relatives and friends, gathering up all the old books and magazines. These they tie into bundles, and with a few boxes of home-made candy they visit some of the hospitals where reading matter, particularly that which is illustrated, is always welcome.

"The girls save one day for candy-making on which they bring forth their favorite receipts for sweets and the results they pack carefully in paper, then in boxes, which are wrapped up and marked for delivery. Red hearts in all sizes are used as address tags and appropriate symbols of the day. The delivering of the packages which is really the jolliest part is done by the girls themselves.

"Aside from the hospitals, the shut-ins are not forgotten. A pot of jelly, a growing plant or evergreen, some little bedroom comfort will be a source of much pleasure to those who are ill. A pair of gloves, handkerchiefs, neckwear, ties, a piece of the latest needle work, a book, a subscription to a magazine—these things are either inexpensive to buy or are made by the club members at their semi-monthly meetings. Twelve heads are decidedly better than one for planning, and with twelve busy pairs of hands much is accomplished in a short time when Economy, Thrift and Loving Thoughtfulness is the motto.

Change of Heart.

Sevierville, Tenn.—"I never did believe in patent medicines," writes Mrs. Martha Hown, of this place, "until I took Cardui, and it cured me. For six months, I could not do anything. Now I do all my housework, and it doesn't tire me. Doctors failed, but Cardui saved my life." The benefit from taking Cardui is not confined to one part of the body. Cardui improves the whole womanly system. It helps headache, backache, falling feelings, and female weakness. Try it. It will help you. Price $1. 30tl

A Kansas Bill.

J. E. Williams, of Kansas, introduced in the Legislature a bill requiring that all brides and bridegrooms must have health certificates before they can obtain a marriage license. The bill provides that physicians must pass on candidates not more than ten days before the application for the license is made and if he makes any false statement he is to be fined from $200 to $500 or be sent to jail for ninety days. Any official who issues the license and any clergyman or official who marries a couple without having a certificate may, under the bill, be fined from $100 to $300, and be sent to jail for from thirty days to six months.

Pie Auction for Preacher.

A Cloverport Kentucky preacher preached the gospel twelve nights in a church near town and only got $7.25. The members gave a pie supper to raise the money for the parson. The pies were auctioned and one brought a dollar and a quarter. So the auctioneer kept the dollar and gave the parson the quarter, for he said a pie wasn't worth more than 25 cents.

The preacher said it has almost come to pass that deliverers of the gospel will starve to death if the people don't pay their ministers better. Women pay more for their hats in one season than they do for their preacher the whole year.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c. $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists. m

Death of Henry Martin Woodburn.

On Sunday morning Feb. 5th, at 4:30 the death angel visited the home of Mr. Henry Woodburn, the well known liveryman of this place and claimed his youngest child Henry Martin Woodburn, while attempting to cross the railroad in front of No. 31 last Thursday night he stumbled and fell, the train ran over him cutting off both feet and left hand and bruised his head. He was carried to the office of Dr. Devitt, where other medical aid was summoned and everything done for the poor sufferer that could be done. He was not taken home to his family till Friday morning.

ing and the shock seemed more than they could stand. His brother John is completely prostrated. His grief seems more than he can bear, but we would say to him to look to Jesus for strength in this the great trial of his life for He alone can comfort. Live closer to God. The day before he died he rallied and talked to his family and friends and told them that he was not afraid to die. Oh what a sweet consolation this is to the bereaved ones to know that Martin was not afraid to face his Saviour. My heart goes out to this afflicted family and more especially to the heart broken mother. From bitter experience I know just what she is suffering. There is nothing on earth that can compare with this mother's grief for that precious child, her baby boy. Time or age will never heal the wound. Martin was just in the bloom of youthful manhood was just 20 years old on Jan. 30th. He was certainly the pride and pet of his family. He will be sadly missed by the entire community. Every one loved him. Old gray-headed men trembled from grief when the sad news came whispered softly "Martin is dead." The young men bowed their heads and wept aloud. This sad occurrence should be a lesson to all and more especially to Martin's companions to shun the trains and run no risk; to be prepared when the summons comes for God may not in every case give us time to say "All is well."

There's another vacant chair,
His place can never be filled.
No watchful eye or tender care,
Will bring back the heart already chilled.

God gave, he took and will restore,
In the final day to come,
Weep not loved ones, he's gone before,
Waiting to welcome you to a celestial home.

A FRIEND.

Notice.

That Resolutions of Respect are published in The Republican at the rate of two cents per line, six words averaging a line. Please do not send obituaries to The Republican without expecting to pay for publication of this kind of matter. In all cases cash must accompany obituaries unless you have an account with this office. All matters for Churches, etc. where money is to be derived, governed by same conditions as obituaries.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS BY JUNIOR.

HALF THE GIRLS AT WELLESLEY, the Massachusetts college, have entered classes to learn common spelling they were supposed to have mastered in grammar school, which is something of a reflection on either the schools or the girls.—Louisville Herald.

OUR GOOD FRIEND, JERRY TILFORD is suffering a general breakdown in health and has been compelled to drop his work. He has been conductor on the Branch ever since it was built and no employee on the Henderson Route has been more faithful than Mr. Telford.—Brookridge News. We are sorry to hear of Capt. Telford's misfortune, and he has our regrets.

MISS A. LOUISE BABBAGE has sent Junior one of her little brochures, "Joys of the Press." We prize it very highly, and Miss Babbage will please accept our thanks.

JUNIOR WAS PLEASED TO MEET Jett W. Hines, of Morgantown, editor of the Green River Republican, at the Senatorial Convention at Beaver Dam, Monday. He recently purchased The Republican at Morgantown, and in the near future will add some new machinery, and also move into more commodious quarters.

THE NANS FLORAL CO., of Owensboro, treated Junior, elegantly the other day when he was in that city. We shall not forget the favor.

WE APPRECIATE THE SUPPORT of our correspondents, and are always glad to get their weekly letters. Sometimes their communications arrive a little tardy, but they are always published.

RECENTLY ONE OF OUR CORRESPONDENTS stopped us as we passed him and another gentleman on the road, and handed us the subscription of the gentleman he was riding with. That correspondent is one of our many loyal supporters, and his commendations are gladly received by the editors, and the readers of The Republican.

THE CHICKEN THIEF in Hartford has gotten busy again and it might be well for us to sleep with one eye open, and our Winchester or Colts close by, so as to give the thief or a warm reception when he comes. That is probably the best remedy.

"A FELLER HAS WRIT IN TO THE NEWS to ask if they ain't something that would be good for distemper in cats. We know a remedy. It has been tried often in Heli-fur-Sartin an' not a durned one of them cats ever come back. Just take the afflicted cat, hold gently with the left hand and with the right take a firm grip on the ax. At a given signal from your conscience, let the ax fall, cuttin' off the cat's tail just behind her ears. We never knowed this remedy to fail."

AT A GATHERING on Steel's creek Warden Collins was knocked on the head with a pair of steel knucks and was badly wounded. Eli Gibson was hit on the head with a rock and came very near being killed. Eli Hicks was nearly beaten to death. The scrappers then went to B. Osborn's and ran his wife and children off and shot up the place.—Hindman Ky., News-Record.

"DRESS UP" IS A MOTTO for a gloomy day. If you get in the dumps put on your Sunday Clothes. Before you know it some one will be saying, how nice you look—and a compliment will help drive the gloom away every time.—A Louise Babbage.

Resolutions of Respect.

Rockport Chapter No. 102 O. E. S. In Memory of Sister Anna Russell Layton.

On January 4th 1911 the death angel again summoned one (Sister Anna Layton) from our chapter to the Grand Chapter on high adding another link to the endless golden chain now forming around the Star of Bethlehem.

Her kind disposition and fine character now form a further affection and admiration.

Whereas our chapter has lost an excellent member, her church one of its best and most faithful members, her home a devoted wife and daughter and a perfect mother and her friends a dear associate.

Resolved, That our heartfelt sympathies be extended to the bereaved family and one sent to each county was inspired by the Star of Bethlehem she has been guided to her eternal home not made with hands. Not long a while they await 'er they will follow our sister, May her innocent babies receive God's richest blessing.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Chapter, one presented to her family and one sent to each County paper.

EVA ROBERTSON,
ANNA J. GIBBS,
AGNES NICKEL,
Committee.

Ad-Talk.

What would you think of a salesman who reported for duty one day, lay off for two, worked a half day, went off for a week and so on without any regularity? Surely you would not expect good service from such a man. And yet some merchants hold advertising, which is simply a "salesman," up to great results when it is allowed to "work" very irregularly. The fact that advertising costs money is proof of its value. Things without cost are usually worth only their price.
